WILSON NEW TRIAL

Supreme Court Handed Down Opinions in Number of Interesting Cases Yesterday.

THE WADESBORO LYNCHERS

Argued Yesterday Before Highest State Authority—North Carolina's Great Fair ic Now in Progress. Other Raleigh Notes.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., October 16.—The Supreme Court orders a partial new trial in Wilson vs. the Atlantic Coast Line, from New Hanover, in which the plaintiff was allowed damages below for injuries sustained by being struck by a car at the Nutt street crossing. Judge Brown writes the opinion and gives as a reason for a partial new trial that the jury was left at sea between contradictory instructions as to damages, which under numerous decisions of the Supreme Court, entitled the defendant to a new trial. Justice Walker files an opinion concurring in part with the majority of the court, but dissenting as to the declaration that the expression by the trial judge "that the plaintiff was deaf, did not make him an outlaw," was, to say the least, unfortunate.

Other opinions delivered were as follows: Hollingsworth vs. Skelding, Duplin, error; State vs. Wells, Duplin, new trial; Thompson vs. Railroad, Vance, affirmed in both appeals; Morisey vs. Hill, Duplin, both appeals affirmed; Railroad vs. Olive, Wake, error; Smith vs. Moore, New Hanover, new trial; State vs. Ring, Columbus, no error; Brick vs. Railroad, Robeson, no error; Slocomb vs. Construction Company, Robeson, no error; Smith vs. Marsh, Cumberland, per curian affirmed; Howell vs. Barfield; Robeson, per curian affirmed; Hall vs. Railroad, Robeson, per curian affirmed; McKinnon vs. Railroad, Robeson, dismissed under rule 17; McCormick vs. Burke, Robeson, dismissed under Rule 17.

The Anson Lynchers.

Raleigh, N. C., October 16.—The noted Wadesboro lynching case of State vs. Zeke Lewis for participating in the lynching of J. V. Johnson May 28th, last, came up for argument on appeal in the Supreme Court to-day. Walter Clark, Jr., appearing for the State instead of Attorney General Gilmer, who is detained out of the city. It will be remembered that in the trial below, before Judge Shaw, the defendant moved to quash the bill of indictment because it appeared on the face of the bill that the offense charged was committed in Anson county and that there was no warrant for finding the indictment or trying him in Union County to which the case was moved. Also the bill should be quashed because the bill charged that the defendant conspired with others without naming them when the statement should have been "and others to the jurors unknown." Both motions to quash were allowed. Both rulings were assigned by the prosecution as errors and appeal taken by the State to the Supreme Court.

In the argument both sides admit that if the "Revisal" had not been passed by the last legislature and the prisoner been indicted under the laws of 1893, the Union county Superior Court would have had jurisdiction and if Chapter 461 had been brought forward solidly into the revisal, it would have had jurisdiction then. So the question is raised for the Supreme Court to pass on "Does the fact that it was split up into sections so as to be put under proper headings destroy the meaning of the sections?"

The State Fair was formally opene to-day at noon by Governor Glenn in which he congratulated the State on the era of great industrial prosperity

IN PINK AND WHITE

Miss Henrie Emma Walker and Mr. William Dougal McCaig Plight Their Troth at Hymen's Altar —An Extended Tour.

A beautiful pink and white wedding in Grace Methodist Church at a quarter past six o'clock yesterday evening joined in marriage Miss Henrie Emma Walker and Mr. William Dougal McCaig, popular young people of this city. The ceremony was one of the prettiest in the history of the church and was attended by a large number of admiring friends and relatives of the bride and groom, who were charmed with the ease and precision with which every detail of the arrangements were carried out.

The interior of the church was beautifully decorated for the marriage with palms, ferns and other evergreens with here and there a touch of color from vases of cut flowers, carrying out the color scheme quite effectively. The bridal chorus from Lohengrin as skilfuly rendered by Miss Mattie L. Chasten on the large pipe organ, heralded to the expectant throng of wedding guests the approach of the party down either of the broad aisles of the church. First came the ushers by twos, Messrs. R. Bruce McCaig, brother of the groom, and Mr. David B. Sinclair, on the right, and Mr. J. W. Wiggins and Mr. J. H. Tench to the left. Next came the bride's only attendant, her sister and dame of honor, Mrs. C. L. Dickinson, who entered from the left. Then came the bride on the arm of her uncle, Mr. J. Bascom Mercer, the bride being joined at the altar by the groom, who entered with his best man, Mr. Malcolm R. Atherwood, of Atlanta, Ga., from the Sunday School room to the right.

The party forming a graceful assembly at the altar the Rev. N. M. Watson, pastor of the church, spoke the solemn and impressive words that made the couple man and wife, the beautiful ring service having been used and the bride having been given away by her uncle, Mr. Mercer.

The bride wore a becoming travelling suit of blue and carried an exquisite bouquet of bride's roses. The dame of honor was attired in crepe de chine, trimmed with lace and wore a large black picture hat to match.

Mendelssohn's Wedding March ushered the party from the church in reverse order from the entrance and at once they repaired to the A. C. L. station whence they departed under a shower of rice and well wishes for an extended bridal tour, going first to Washington, D. C., and later to the Pacific coast including visits to Cincinnati, Chicago, Salt Lake, Denver and San Francisco. They will be away about three weeks and returning to Wilmington will make their home at No. 412 Princess street. Both the bride and groom have many friends who will be delighted to know that they are to become permanent residents of the city. The bride is one of the most attractive young women of the city and is much loved and admired. The groom has just been promoted to the position of Station Accountant in the office of Mr. H. C. Prince, Comptroller of the Atlantic Coast Line here and numbers his friends by the hundreds. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth but has been in the South a number of years coming to the Coast Line from Savannah upon the absorption of the Plant System by the A. C. L. in 1902. In testimony of the popularity of both parties to the marriage vow, they received a large number of handsome wedding presents, many of them coming from a distance.

Young White Man Arrested.

M. C. V. Rivenbark, a young man who is weak-minded, was arrested yesterday by the police on a charge of larceny. He was also charged with several other petty offences at the request of his brother who wants him sent to the County Home for a few months to see if the punishment will have a good effect on him. If not, he will be turned over to the county authorities and sent to one of the State institutions.

THE CAPTAIN HELD

Master of British Steamer Osceola Bound Over to United States Court.

THE PRELIMINARY HEARING

Alleged Unlawful Detention of U. S. Marines from Cruiser Columbia Investigated by Commissioner Collier Yesterday—Seamen Jailed

After a lengthy hearing before United States Commissioner S. P. Collier in the court room in the postoffice building yesterday, probable cause was found in the case of Capt. McLean, of the British steamer Osceola, charged with violation of Section 5455 of the Revised Statutes in connection with the alleged shanghaing of the two U. S. marines at Newport News last week, and he was required to give bond of $2,500 for his appearance at the next term of the United States District Court in this city. Five of the seamen who appeared at the hearing were placed in jail in default of $500 for their appearance as witnesses for the government. The case attracted a good deal of general interest and there were a number of spectators at the hearing. Capt. McLean was present with British Vice Consul James Sprunt and his counsel, Messrs. Rountree & Carr. Byrnes and Flynn, the alleged marines and prosecuting witnesses, were represented by George L. Peschau, Esq.

Capt. McLean was bound over in spite of the testimony offered for the defence fully corroborating the Associated Press telegram in the Star yesterday morning to the effect that the men were regularly signed on board the Osceola in the presence of the British Consul at Newport News and that the men were posted as deserters before they were even brought to Newport News and shipped on the British steamer. This testimony was contained in telegrams from the British Consul at Newport News to Mr. James Sprunt, British Vice Consul here. he telegram further stated that the Columbia had left Newport News and there was no way of communicating with the commander of that ship as to the status of the men aboard.

The hearing before Commissioner Collier began at 10:30 o'clock. The seamen Byrnes and Flynn, who were alleged to have been shanghaied, were the first witnesses and told their story substantially the same as was given in these columns after the hearing before the Mayor. The next to testify was the Dane, who was also tried before the Mayor for desertion. He claimed also to have been shanghaied and put aboard the Osceola but by other parties than those accused by the two marines. None of the witnesses testified that anybody aboard the Osceola was concerned in the shanghaing the charge against Capt. McLean being unlawfully detaining them aboard the ship, knowing them to be U. S. marines.

Hermann Luche, a fourth of the men arrested for desertion from the Osceola, was a star witness and was characterized by the defence as a "sea lawyer." He said that he saw the men aboard, knew that they were marines and related circumstances to show that Capt. McLean was fixed with that knowledge. He also told of the men being detained on board and having been prevented from reporting their detention to the proper officers ashore. Luche said that when Byrnes and Flynn were brought aboard they had on the working uniform of the Navy.

Capt. McLean was the first witness for the defence. He said that when he reached Newport News he discharged his crew. The men were brought aboard Sunday morning, all of them sober, and they signed the ship's articles in the presence of the British Vice Consul there. Flynn and Byrnes signed as O'Brien and Murphy. He had great trouble keeping the crew aboard until he sailed for Wilmington from Newport News and the day before he sailed he was told by Byrnes and Flynn that they were marines of the United States but his long experience with sailors had taught him that they would resort to any subterfuge to get ashore and placed absolutely no confidence in what they said. Mr. James Sprunt corroborated Capt. McLean in the story told him of what the sailors had said. Mr. Sprunt placed no confidence in the report either but said that he would have the matter investigated at the proper time.

Other officers of the Osceola told

A MORNING WEDDING

Miss Louise E. White Attractive Bride of Mr. Otto R. Conner—Pretty Ceremony Yesterday at Home of Bride on Market Street.

A wedding of much interest to a large number of friends in Wilmington and elsewhere was that of Miss Louise E. White, the attractive young daughter of the late B. F. White, of this city, and Mr. Otto R. Conner, of New York, for the past several years a prominent young business man of Wilmington. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of the bride, No. 806 Market street, where there was gathered a company of intimate friends and relatives of the young people to the marriage vow, both preferring that the affair should be quiet and unostentatious. The service was by the Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and it was one of the prettiest celebrated in Wilmington in a long time. The parlors of the home were very attractively decorated with palms and ferns and flowers and these combined with all the surroundings to lend a charm to the scene that was fitting an occasion fraught with so much happiness for the young people.

The bride was pretty in a very handsome dark blue chiffon cloth tailored gown with hat to match, and carrying a lovely shower bouquet of bride's roses and ferns.

The only attendant was Mr. T. M. Crane, a close friend of the groom, who was present as best man. The male attendants wore the conventional black with white vests and boutonnieres of carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom, accompanied by a number of friends, repaired to the Atlantic Coast Line station whence they departed with very best wishes on a wedding tour of ten days to Northern cities. On their return to North Carolina, they will be at home at Bell Haven, where the groom has taken a very responsible position with the Inter-State Milling Company, of that place.

Both the bride and groom are among the most popular young people in Wilmington and there will be many to join in happy congratulations upon their union. Although the wedding was quiet and only intimate friends had knowledge that the ceremony was to be performed so soon, there were a large number of very handsome wedding presents. Mr. Conner has made many friends in Wilmington since he came here, having been connected with the Standard Pole and Tie Company, a large New York corporation. The bride is much loved and admired in a wide circle of friends in this city.

AUDIT AND FINANCE BOARD.

Regular Semi-Monthly Meeting Last Night Was Not Important.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Board of Audit last night upon which all members were in attendance except Mr. Wilder, was not important. Col. C. H. White, assistant clerk and treasurer, was present as clerk in the absence of Capt. T. D. Meares who is attending the Pythian Supreme Lodge in New Orleans.

Alderman Price, of the Library Committee, was present and was given permission to expend $270 of the Library appropriation for gas fixtures, a cabinet and some furnishings without the formality of submitting the bids to the Board of Audit and Finance.

Chairman Johnson, of the Water Commission, was present and secured concurrence in a proposition to have five deep wells located in different parts of the city instead of three as previously allowed, a better contract being possible with five wells. The locations are left with the committee.

Contract with V. Swann for removing the old Hook and Ladder Hall in Fifth ward and fitting it up as a public market, was approved.

The usual bills for current expenses were audited after which the Board adjourned subject to call of the Chairman.

A SERMON ON HELL

Vivid Portrayal of the Sinner's Doom by Dr. Hamilton, the Evangelist.

AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Song and Praise Services of Successful Revival Show No Lack of Interest—Two Sermons This Afternoon and Evening.

Following the half-hour's song service last night at the First Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. Mr. Wakefield, the evangelist, Dr. W. W. Hamilton, read the Scripture lesson from the 16th Chapter of Luke's Gospel. The sermon was on a clause of the 25th verse, which reads, "But Abraham said, Son, Remember." The picture, taken from the story of the rich man and Lazarus, is very familiar.

Dr. Hamilton said in part:

"I sometime look upon Hell as God's great penitentiary. To-night I shall not discuss the question why God should have prepared such a place and I do not wish to center your thoughts on but one idea and that is that in Hell there is conscious memory. What is more mysterious, what more wonderful than this council chamber of thoughts—memory? Jesus tells us that memory is going to play a large part in the next world. What an awful thing to spend eternity in Hell and to have a memory of a life misspent. The saddest thing we can think of is this everlasting remorse in the depths of Hell. God pity the man who down on his death-bed thinks over a wasted life.

"Then again, this man must have had the memory of his influence. Fathers, mothers, it will be a terrible thing for you to be lost, but how sad 'twill be if in Hell you have the memory of a child sent to perdition through your influence. If there is a sadder thing than to be in Hell yourself it must be the memory of some one else stumbling into that same Hell on your account. Hell is a place prepared for the Devil and his angels and if you go there, you go as an intruder.

"Dives, too, remembered that he had had warnings. He remembered also his excuses, I have no doubt. If you cannot take your excuses to God now, you can be very certain they will do no good at the judgment bar of God. God have mercy on the man who is being duped into believing that there is any virtue in his flimsy excuses.

"This rich man was also told to remember that, 'Between us and you there is a great gulf fixed.' There is no chance given to repent in the life hereafter.

"'In the place where the true falleth, there shall it be;, again, 'He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still * * *

"Finally this man remembered that God wanted to save him, and that his lost condition was his own fault. Friends, God takes no pleasure in the death of the wicked and 'whosoever believeth in him shall not perish, but have everlasting life.'"

Dr. Hamilton will preach twice today. At the 4 o'clock service and again at the 7:30 meeting at night.

Will Wed This Evening.

A wedding of much interest to a large number of friends in this city and elsewhere will be that of Miss Bettie W. Johnson, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. William A. Johnson, of this city, and Mr. William Walter Love, secretary and treasurer of the D. L. Gore Company, in Wilmington. The ceremony will be performed at 6 o'clock this evening at the home of the bride's parents, on Dock street and immediately afterwards they will leave for an extended bridal tour North.

COAL PRODUCTION NORTH CAROLINA.

The United States Geological Survey on Thursday at Washington made public a summary of the total coal production in the United States. The report states that the total production of coal in the United States, in 1905, surpassed all records, being 392,919,341 short tons, valued at $476,756,962.

In the production of coal, as in nearly all of the more important branches of the mining industry the United States, in 1905, surpassed all previous records. Compared with 1904, the output last year exhibits a gain of 41,102,943 short tons, or 11.7 per cent. in quantity, and of $32,385,942, or 7.3 per cent., in value. Prior to 1905 the maximum output of coal was obtained in 1903, when the production amounted to 357,356,416 short tons, valued at $503,724,381, compared with which the record for 1905 shows an increase in production of 35,562,925 short tons, and a decrease in value of $26,967,418.

The Geological Survey has recently paid special attention to the coal fields in North Carolina, and has issued an interesting summary concerning the production of coal in North Carolina. We take the following from the summary:

"There are two areas in North Carolina in which coal occurs. Both of these are found in the triassic formation and are of the same age as the Richmond coal basin, in Virginia. The two areas are known as the Deep and Dan river fields being named from two rivers which drain them. The only productive beds at present are those in the Deep river district, in Chatham and Moore counties. For several years practically all of the production has been from one mine, the Cumnock, near Egypt, in Chatham county. The output has been very irregular and during the last three years has notably declined. The largest production in recent years was in 1899, when 26,896 short tons were mined. * * * * * The United States census of 1840 stated that a production of three tons was obtained from North Carolina in that year. There is no evidence of any other production prior to the Civil War, when the necessities of the Confederate government were partly relieved by coal obtained from this region. After the war the production fell off for several years, and from 1874 to 1879 none was reported from this area. The Cumnock or Egypt mines were reopened in 1889, and have been producing each year since that time."

Accompanying this statement is a table showing the production of coal in North Carolina for five years, from 1901 to 1905. The production in 1901 was 12,000 tons valued at $15,000, in 1902 it was 23,000 tons valued at $34,500, and in 1903 the mines produced 17,309 tons valued at $25,300. From the latter year there was a decrease till 1905 when only 1,557 tons was the output, the value being $2,336.

The biggest production of the North Carolina coal mines was in 1862 to 1865 when they supplied the Confederate government coal for the blockade runners coming in and going out of Wilmington. In those years the production was as follows: 30,000 tons in each 1862 and 1863; 25,000 tons in 1864, and 20,000 tons in 1865.

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

WHISKEY VICTIMS CAN GET RELIEF

Virginian Took Keeley Cure Twice, But It Was His Own Fault—He Was Finally Ridded of the Awful Habit.

The Keeley Institute, Greensboro, N. C.:

This is to say that I have taken the Keeley Cure for whiskey both in Greensboro, N. C., and in Richmond, Va. Why did I go to both? I consider it my fault and mine alone, that it was necessary for me to go the second time; and now I am thankful to say that I am a cured man. It has been four years since I drank a drop.

It is the only known cure for man or woman who cannot resist whiskey or morphine. Of course the Keeley is on the same order of a boy going to school; if he does not care to learn no one can teach him; so it is with a man going to the Keeley, if he will do his part the Keeley Treatment will do its part. If, on the other hand, a man does not care to stop, nothing can stop him unless it is death; but any man or woman who cares to stop at all can certainly do so by taking a four week's course of treatment in the Greensboro Keeley Institute.

Now, my friends, let me tell you right here, if you are in the habit of taking too much strong drink let nothing prevent your taking this course at Greensboro, N. C. If you have not the money, borrow it. Let nothing keep you back. I know I tried as hard as any man could, and yet I could not stop until I took the treatment at Greensboro. Now I never think of whiskey.

RAINFALL.

The Processes of Nature by Which It Is Produced.

Rain is, as we all know, the moisture of the atmosphere condensed into drops large enough to fall with perceptible velocity to the earth. The variation in the sizes of the drops is dependent upon the difference in the height from which they have fallen and to the amount of atmospheric disturbance present at the time. If they fall from great heights the drops suffer gradual division into smaller and smaller parts until they are at last converted into mists. In calm weather, with the clouds near the earth's surface, the drops are apt to be large and heavy. The formation of rain is in general a continuation or an enlargement of the processes by which clouds and fogs are formed. The deposition of moisture depends upon the cooling of the atmosphere, but concerning the precise process by which the cooling is effected various opinions are entertained even among those who have made meteorology a life study. In considering the matter we have deduced our reckonings from what is considered the best authority on the subject. From this it appears that the temperature of a given mass of warm air is lowered in the ordinary course of atmospheric phenomena by one or the other of the processes mentioned in the following: By radiation to the cold sky, by radiation to the neighboring masses of clouds or the cold ground, by mixture with cool air or by the absorption of heat in the expansion of ascending columns of air. Whatever the process may be, one thing is sure—the cooling must take place before the moisture will collect into drops of sufficient size to cause them to fall from the mass of vapor in which the constituent parts have been floating.

A Crazy Wit.

A contemporary states that while a wedding breakfast was being held in a restaurant at Fresnes les Rungis a naval officer in uniform entered the room and was invited to preside over the feast. He made himself very agreeable, sang songs and delivered speeches. He was proposing the bride's health when two policemen rushed in and arrested him as an escaped lunatic from a neighboring asylum. It is further asserted that he thereupon politely turned to the officers and said: "I think you have made a mistake, gentlemen. There"—pointing to the bridegroom—"is the man you want."—London Tribune.

Encouraged to Sing at Work.

At the works of a firm of soap makers in England the girl employees are encouraged to sing part songs while at work. The object is to relieve the monotony. In the departments that number more than thirty girls and have not noisy machinery they are encouraged to sing during the last hour of work in the morning and in the afternoon.

A Joke.

The other day a benevolent old gentleman was stopped by a tramp, who asked for money for a night's lodging. "Well, look here, my man," the old gentleman said, "what would you say if I offered you work?" "Bless yer life, sir," came the reply, "I wouldn't mind a bit. I can take a joke same as most people."

The Cure.

Patient—Doctor, I frequently experience a hissing sound in my ears. What would you advise me to do? Doctor—What is your occupation? Patient—I'm an actor. Doctor—Then I'd advise you to get some other kind of a job.

MOUNTAIN TRAIN BARELY ESCAPES

Thrilling Incident on Murphy Branch of Southern Railway—Runaway Freight Cars Running Down Mountain Switched in Time.

(Charlotte Observer.)

Asheville, Oct. 15.—There was wild excitement for a few moments at several stations on the Asheville division of the Southern Railway between this city and Murphy last Friday evening and, while particulars of the incident that caused the excitement have not had the "O.K." of the division officals, it is known that passenger train No. 18 from Murphy to Asheville with its cargo of human freight narrowly escaped a bad accident and posible destruction near Willets. According to the statements of a gentleman here from that section who is conversant with the facts, two freight cars had been loaded to the beams with lumber at Balsam during Friday afternoon and were standing with brakes set tight waiting tobe shifted, when in some manner the brakes were loosened and the heavily laden cars started on a mad run down the steep mountain side. The cars were loaded just over the crest of the mountain and when they broke from their fastenings they started westward toward Murphy. Coming toward Balsam at the time was passenger train No. 18 with Engineer John Clark at the throttle. The operator at Balsam, realizing that the passenger train was in grave danger of colliding with the runaway box cars, rushed to his instrument and, calling Dillsboro, gave hurried instructions for the passenger to be sidetracked; that there were two runaway cars on the mountain. It was found that the pasenger had passed Dillsboro headed for Balsam and a moment later Addie, the next station eastward, also gave the information that No. 18 had also passed that point. There is but one other station between Addie and Balsam, Willets. In the meantime the runaway cars with their loads of lumber were racing toward the passenger train at a speed of 100 miles an hour, while the passenger was pulling up the mountain toward Willets. The Asheville office and other stations, including Willets, learned of the train's danger. There was intense excitement. At Willets, however, there was quick action. With the rumble and roar of the runaways pounding the rails on the one side and the hoarse whistle of the passenger engine on the other someone at or near Willets threw a switch. Almost instantly the box cars rushed onto it and were wrecked. The passenger train, however, was saved. It pulled into the station when some of the passengers learned of their narrow escape. But for the throwing of the switch and the ditching of the runaway cars there would have been a collision with possible frightful results. One man who saw the runaway cars declared that they were going at a speed of not less than 100 miles an hour, while another said that the cars even beat that; that when sent into the siding they were making 150 miles an hour.

—Mr. W. W. Lane, of Gastonia, who was struck by a passenger train on Saturday night, died of the injuries.

—Statesville has contracted with the Southern Power Company, of Charlotte, for electric current of 1,000 horse power, 500 of which will be for city lighting and 500 for local industries.

—The register of deeds of Wake county has made up the tax list, which shows 7,721 polls in the county, of which 2,445 are in Raleigh. There are 5,519,995 acres of land, value $4,495,674. The aggregate value of all real estate is $10,096,250, that in Raleigh being $5,166,240. Last year's taxes amounted to $164,222. Then the county rate was 23 2-3. It is now reduced to 20 cents, and the taxes this year amount to $160,120. The total valuation of property last year in the county was $14,406,705, this year being $14,844,364.

—At Greensboro on Monday morning, William Smith, a lineman in the employ of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company fell 45 feet from a cross-arm of a telephone pole on South Elm street, landing headforemost on a street carriage. He went through the carriage top into the carriage. He received a few slight bruises, but outside of that was unhurt. He resumed work a short while after the accident. He was at work on the cross-arm when he came in contact with a live wire, causing him to let go his hold and drop to the ground below.

—Asheville special, Oct. 15: Locke Craig, one of the best political speakers in the State, left yesterday for eastern North Carolina, where he will deliver a number of speeches before the close of the campaign. He will speak under the auspices of the Democratic State committee and will discuss the issues at Louisburg, Franklin, Henderson, Beaufort, Wilmington, Charlotte, Raleigh and other places. Mr. Craig will be away from Asheville until October 27th, and, upon returning here, will probably make several speeches in Buncombe.

—Raleigh correspondence, Oct. 15: Three white men, all fair fakirs on their way from the Richmond fair to the fair here, are in the hospital, having been taken there last night. They were coming on a special train on the Seaboard Air Line. As the train was passing under the tracks of the Atlantic Coast Line, twelve miles this side of Richmond, a heavy projecting piece of iron struck the feet of the men who were sitting in the open door of a baggage car with their feet hanging down. Gib Reynolds, of Uniontown, Ky., was the worst hurt, his ankle being broken. The other men were merely bruised.

—Charlotte Observer, Oct. 16: "There are 11 cotton mills under conetruction in Gaston county which will be opened up with in the next six months," declared a well-known mill man to an Observer reporter yesterday. "All of these are small mills averaging from 6,000 to 10,000 spindles each, with first-class equipment and up-to-date designs. Five are in and about Gastonia, one at Mount Holly, one at Belmont, one at Lowell, and another near by, one at McAdensville and another at King's Mountain. The milling interests of Gaston county are booming."

—Dillon, S. C., Herald: Engineers are surveying the route of a proposed railroad from Maxton to Little Rock. It is said that several wealthy men of Maxton are behind the enterprise. The road has been extended several miles below Maxton in this direction and is equipped with heavy iron rails. Rumor has it that the road is to serve as a feeder to a large saw mill near Maxton, but persons in a position to know say that the object of the promoters is to establish a connecting link between Dillon and Maxton for the transportation of freight and passengers. If this be true Dillonites will hail the coming of the new road with delight.

—Kinston special, Oct. 15: Superior Court Judge Webb presiding, commenced the second week this morning. The suit for damages of Kinsey vs. S. H. Isler and the city of Kinston was begun Saturday and finished this afternoon. The plaintiff sued the defendants for $1,500 on account of damages received by falling at night in a ditch for a connection to the city's sewer. There were no lights left on the excavation by the contracting plumber. Most of Saturday afternoon was devoted to argument of law as to the city's liability continuing after a permit had been issued to Mr. Isler to make a sewer connection for a residence. Many authorities were cited in favor of the plaintiff, who opposed a non-suit for the city but none were rulings of the Supreme Court of North Carolina. Judge Webb ruled with the plaintiff this morning and so charged the jury. The verdict found that the city and the plumber were equally negligent and gave the plaintiff $25.

—Asheville Special, Oct. 15: A runaway engine and caboose on the Asheville yards of the Southern Railway last night plunged into a freight train standing on the west end of the long trestle across the French Broad river near Asheville, demolishing a caboose, one car filled with corn, and injuring six trainmen. Conductor Charles McHarge, of Ralph street, this city, and Flagman Oscar Fulbright, also of Asheville, were the two most seriously hurt. Mr. McHarge was injured in the back and head. It is thought that his back is broken. Mr. Fulbright is thought to be hurt internally. His injures are serious. Brakeman D. S. Holmes was slightly injured in jumping. Flagman Homer Vinson, of the Knoxville division, who remained in the runaway, sustained a fractured arm. He was thrown from the steps of the caboose and landed on the bank of the river within six feet of the water's edge. The caboose was split wide open while the corn was demolished and the grain scattered all over the tracks. The damaged cars were dumped into the river and the track cleared at 4 o'clock this morning.

—Durham Special, Oct. 15: The case of Blackwell vs. the Mutual Fund Life Insurance Company, of New York, has resulted in a mistrial. The jury was discharged last mid-night, having been "hung" since the night before. This case is of more than ordinary interest in many ways. It is of interest because of the hard fight that has been made up to date, and because of some later developments that tied up the jury. This case was one in which J. W. Blackwell claims that he should be refunded certain premiums he paid in to the company. He was given a rate and had a large policy on his life. Later, in 1895, the rates were raised and he was forced to drop his policy. He claims that in this the act of the company was illegal and that his premiums and interest, amounting to some $3,500, should be refunded to him. Only two or three votes were taken and the matter discussed when the midnight hour (Saturday) was reached. There were on the jury two men who would not work on Sunday and did not believe that there should be any consideration of this matter on that day and they refused absolutely, so it is learned, to take up the matter on that day. Judge Moore allowed the jury to hang on until last night between 10 and 11 o'clock, when he thought that it was a hopeless hangup, and inasmuch as the court adjourned at mid-night Sunday he told the men they could go, ordering the withdrawal of a juror and mistrial. The case now goes back on docket for another court.

ARRESTED AT WHITEVILLE.

Negro Circus Attache With Pawnee Bill Arrested Yesterday.

Constable W. B. Savage yesterday afternoon went down to Whiteville and at the request of the management of the shows, arrested John Jones, a negro with several aliases, a hanger-on with the Pawnee Bill circus, charged in this city with four offences committed Sunday night while the tents were at Hilton Park for the performance the day following. Maj. Lillie, proprietor of the shows, asked Justice Bornemann to have the negro arrested before he left this city, but the offender made himself scarce. Yesterday the circus management notified the officers here that the negro had joined the show again at Whiteville and could be arrested there. Constable Savage went down on the afternoon train and returned last night with the prisoner lodging him in the New Hanover jail for preliminary trial before Justice Bornemann to-day.

The negro is charged with drawing a pistol on a Wilmington negro and prevented only from shooting him by some of the cowboys of the circus, who saw the act and disarmed him. Later the show coon jumped on the same negro and beat him with a black jack. Another charge is carrying a concealed weapon and a fourth is robbing a colored woman of some money at the point of a pistol. The negro seems to have been a terror on the show grounds and the management of the enterprise were as anxious to have him arrested as the local authorities were to get at him.

The negro upon his arrival here last night said that his correct name is Walter Banks and that he came from South Dakota. He is regarded as a dangerous character. On his person, Constable Savage found a watch and other articles taken from a colored man robbed on the highway here.

ADAMS AND SAWYER CASE.

Decision of President Came as Great Surprise to Public.

The decision of the President to decline to commute the sentences of Adams and Sawyer, under sentence of death in the county jail here for mutiny and murder, came as a great surprise to the public. Messrs. George Rountree and George L. Peschau, counsel for the prisoners, were interviewed yesterday and said that there was hardly anything further that they could do though Mr. Peschau is looking up a decision of the United Supreme Court upon which he is depending to some slight degree.

The prisoners were not notified yesterday of the decision of the President and Jailer Capps will probably not break the news to them until the United States Marshal comes to Wilmington to officially notify them, which it is supposed will be done within a few days. It will be a cruel blow to them, for they have believed all along on the strength of the confession of Scott that they would be set free. Since the confession of Scott there has been no special night watch of the prisoners by the U. S. authorities but now that the death sentence has been accentuated, so to speak, it is expected that the watch will be re-established in the jail.

WILSON NEW TRIAL.

that is pervading the State. He declared that the exhibits in the Fair buildings are a superb demonstration of that development. The crowds here for the opening day is one of the largest in the history of the Fair Asociation. Wednesday and Thursday are always the big days and the indications are that this year will be no exception. Weather conditions are a little unfavorable, cloudy but not raining. The weather forecast, however, is for fair to-morrow.

An elaborate series of open air attractions is arranged for each day. The midway is pronounced free from very objectionable features and is well filled.

An order, effective November 1st., was made by the Corporation Commission this evening with a view to eliminating the much complained of evil of indefinitely and unexplained late trains by requiring a bulletin of explanation of conditions and causes. The order is to the effect that all railroads shall provide bulletin boards on which shall be posted the arrival and departure of trains thirty minutes before they are due. If a train is late, the board shall show as nearly as possible when it is expected. If indefinitely late, cause of delay shall also be bulletined and also announced to passengers on the train together with the statement of the possible duration of the delay.

SESSIONS HAVE BEGUN.

Sixth Annual Meeting of the Wilmington Baptist Association.

The sixth annual sessions of the Wilmington Baptist Association convened in this city with Brooklyn Baptist church yesterday morning and will remain in session three days. The attendance is very good indeed and the reports being brought up from the churches show a very satisfactory condition of the work in this territory. All the old officers have been re-elected and Mr. George E. Leftwich, of this city, is presiding as moderator. Mr. C. E. McCullen, of Burgaw, is the clerk and Mr. L. R. Highsmith, of Kerr, is treasurer of the Association.

The opening sermon was preached yesterday morning by Dr. W. W. Hamilton, of Louisville, Ky., the distinguished Baptist divine, who is conducting a series of revival services at the First church. Dr. Hamilton had for his theme yesterday "The Mission of a New Testament Church is That of Soul Winning." The sermon was a very strong one and was listened to with great interest and profit by the lay and clerical delegates in attendance upon the sessions. The afternoon meeting of the Association yesterday was given over to reports from the churches which were found very satisfactory in the main. No services are held at night and the members of the Association are attending the services at the First church.

MRS. MARY J. HEWETT DEAD.

Venerable Woman Entered Into Rest Yesterday—Funeral To-day.

Friends of the family in this city will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Mary J. Hewett, a venerable woman of Wilmington and widow of the late, John T. Hewett, who passed away at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the family home, No. 506 North Fifth street. Mrs. Hewett was born in Brunswick county, but had lived in this city nearly all her life and had reached the advanced age of 96 years, two months and 11 days. She was a member of the Chapel of the Good Shepherd and had lived a long and useful Christian life. She is survived of the immediate family by two sons, Messrs. John W. and James W. Hewett and a large number of grandchildren.

The funeral of Mrs. Hewett will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the Chapel of the Good Shepherd by Rev. T. P. Noe, minister in charge, and the interment will be in the Hewett family burying ground.

Day After the Circus.

There were only nine cases all told before the Mayor yesterday, which speaks pretty well for the order following the show at Hilton Monday. None of the cases was of special importance. Gertrude Fillyaw, a negress of unsavory reputation, was given 30 days at the county farm in each of two cases for vagrancy and disorderly conduct. E. D. Burnes, a circus attache who was picked up very drunk at the Carolina Central bridge Monday afternoon, was let off upon condition that he leave the city at once. Peter Bray, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was fined $5 and costs.

AN OLD CONTRIVANCE.

Relic of Elizabethan Days in Old England—Academy.

An old relic of the Elizabethan days in England was discovered by Charles Major when seeking material for his romance, "Dorothy Vernon of Hadden Hall" in the dramatization of which Miss Laura Burt and Mr. Henry Stanford are starring this season.

Mr. Major discovered on the walls of the great dining room in old Haddon Hall, Derbyshire, a queer sort of contrivance a little above the height of a man's head, the purpose of which always has to be explained to visitors. It is a sort of pulley with a leathern thong running through it, and when the master of the revels discovered that one of the guests was not drinking his full allotment of burnt sack, the delinquent was trussed up by one arm to this pulley and the wine poured down his sleeve. Those who are wont to hark back to the "good old days," particularly with reference to the so-called degenerate morals of the present, should be specially interested in this odd feature of old English life.

This fact will prove of particular interest to those who are present at Miss Burt and Mr. Stanford's performances at the Academy Saturday matinee and night.

the same story of the signing of the men and denied that any of the men were drunk when they were brought aboard. The chief engineer alone testified as to having heard of Byrnes and Flynn being marines.

Adjutant Wiggins of the Seamen's Home testified to having overheard a conversation of some of the men from the Osecola about being shanghaied, the idea among them being that they would resort to that plea to keep from crossing the ocean on the voyage of the British ship.

The court took a recess about 1 o'clock until 3 P. M., in order to get other witnesses from among the seamen on the Osceola suggested by Luche. These told practically the same story of the signing of the crew. Deputy Collector T. L. Vines was also introduced for the government. He testified that the men came to the Custom House here and reported that they were shanghaied at Newport News and wanted to get back to their ship. He took down what they had to say and made a report of the department.

George Rountree, Esq., opened the argument for the defence, and was followed by James O. Carr, Esq., in the same behalf. George L. Peschau, Esq., presented the case for the marines and Commissioner Collier gave his judgment as stated above. Mr. James Sprunt at once became surety for Capt. McLean and the seamen were committed to jail by Deputy Marshal C. O. Knox.

As the Osceola will be ready to sail with cargo of cotton very soon and she would be detained here at a heavy expense, an effort will be made to get a speedier hearing before the District Court in one of the other cities of the State, probably Washington, N. C. In this way Capt. McLean, who is confident of acquittal when all the facts are brought out, could rejoin his ship here and sail with a minimum delay. The District Court does not meet in this city until October 29th.

DRY FARMING.

Explanation of the Principles of the Campbell System.

What western people have become accustomed to call the "Campbell system of dry farming" consists simply in the exercise of intelligence, care, patience and tireless industry. It differs in detail from the good farming methods practiced and taught at the various agricultural experiment stations, but the underlying principles are the same.

These principles are two in number: First, to keep the surface of the land under cultivation loose and finely pulverized. This forms a soil mulch that permits the rains and melting snows to percolate readily through to the compacted soil beneath and that at the same time prevents the moisture stored in the ground from being brought to the surface by capillary attraction, to be absorbed by the hot, dry air. The second is to keep the subsoil finely pulverized and firmly compacted, increasing its water holding capacity and its capillary attraction and placing it in the best possible physical condition for the germination of seed and the development of plant roots. The dry farmer thus stores water not in dams and artificial reservoirs, but right where it can be reached by the roots of growing crops.

Through these principles a rainfall of twelve inches can be conserved so effectively that it will produce better results than are usually expected of an annual precipitation of twenty-four inches in humid America. The discoverer and demonstrator of these principles deserves to rank among the greatest of national benefactors. He has not merely made two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, but he has made it possible to cover with wheat and corn, alfalfa and other useful crops tens of thousands of square miles of fertile land on which nothing but sagebrush, cacti, Kansas sunflowers and bunch grass are now found.—John L. Cowan in Century Magazine.

Grasshopper Glacier.

One of the small glaciers in Montana is of special interest on account of the fact that in the mass of ice there are imbedded two strata of grasshoppers, each about a foot thick. There are literally tons of grasshoppers in the ice, and the question naturally arises as to where they came from. The most obvious explanation is that centuries ago two enormous swarms in course of migration were caught in a snowstorm, chilled and buried in the snow, where they have remained till now in a perfect state of preservation. In the accounts of the early western explorers a few instances are related of meeting large swarms of locusts on the mountain tops in the Rockies. It is a very fortunate circumstance that the great extension of agriculture in the west has broken up the breeding grounds of these insects.—St. Louis Republic.

A Queer Wager.

There are men whose pride is in the stoic endurance of acute discomfort. They insist upon doing unpleasant things in order to convince themselves that they can do them. At Oxford some years ago there was an eminent Rugby football player whose passion was to discover the most uncomfortable things and then to do them. One evening a humorist suggested that—as it was January—it would be rather beastly to sit in a cold tub all night long. The footballer at once offered to wager that he could sit till morning chapel time in his cold tub. And he did it.—London Chronicle.

THE TEAR

[Original.]

"Doctor, I reckon you'll have to come around and see Ellen. I know you can't do anything for her, but you cheer us all up."

The doctor was pouring something from a vial into a liquid contained in a test tube. His expression was not cheerful; it was serious.

"John," he said, "you sowed the wind and are reaping the whirlwind. Your marriage was a very unwise one both for you and for Ellen. Without it she would have remained with her mother, who now lives a thousand miles away from her. As for you, the drag of a sick wife upon you has been your ruin."

"In one sense, doctor, your words are true; in another I question if they are. The great Creator has placed us in a world in which our better nature is always struggling with our selfishness. If we lived here always there would be but one criterion for our judgment—success. But we know not what criterion will take its place in the existence to come. The poet tells of a peri who gained admission to paradise by offering a tear of a repentant sinner. Well, if I am ever admitted to heaven I shall have gained my place there by a tear, though not of repentance."

The doctor held a test tube before a light and observed particles floating in a liquid it contained. The speaker went on:

"Before Ellen became an invalid we drifted together as other lovers drift together. At that age I held a girl as something holy, something far above what I regarded man's coarse nature. I remember one evening when we were walking together she slipped her hand within my arm, and it seemed as if I had been touched by an angel from heaven. That touch alone was enough to decide my fate.

"You remember how I took all the prizes in college, and you and father and the rest had great hopes for me. The career you predicted fired me with a desire for success. Then I cut a brilliant figure at the law school, and six months after graduation won the Springer claim in court. It put me at once at the head of the junior bar."

"I well remember," said the doctor.

"It was just at this time that Ellen met with the accident and you told me that she would be an invalid for life. I knew then all you said about her being a drag on me as well as when you mention it today. I had a long struggle between the career ahead of me, which would need a ceaseless devotion, and the care of an invalid wife, and I made a clear case in favor of the former. Ellen needed a mother, not a husband. It was not a case of whether I loved the career ahead of me or her the more; it was a case of inexorable common sense. I confess I shrank from breaking my decision to her, but, knowing it was the turning point of my life, I nerved myself by a supreme effort.

"I well remember the night I called on her for the purpose. It was among the first warm days of the season, and she was lying on a wicker lounge on the porch. A wistaria vine hung down from above and was in bloom. From within the house came the fragrance of roses. Ellen looked up at me lovingly from her great flaring invalid eyes. I maintained an inward stoicism. After a few irrelevant words I told her that I had come to announce something of deep import to us both. Beginning with our duty to each other and to ourselves, I led gradually to the final announcement. It would never have been possible for me to make so able an argument in court. No woman could fail to see that under her mother's care alone could she hope for comfort. As to the effect of our marriage on me, I drew a graphic picture of a lost career, but told her that were it best for her I would give it up in order to devote myself to her."

The speaker ceased and there was a brief silence.

"She released you?" asked the doctor.

"She neither released nor held me. She listened without a word. I could see at times her bosom heaving, then repressed by an internal struggle not apparent on the surface. I finished with the words, 'I shall never become reconciled to that inexorable fate which has forced us apart.' Then I waited for her reply."

The speaker paused. He was thinking.

"It was?"

"A tear."

There was a silence while the doctor was fumbling with his test tubes. "And your reply to it?" he asked presently.

"An embrace."

The doctor turned and faced his visitor.

"And you don't regret your—indecision?"

"No."

There was a longer pause, during which the doctor looked out of the window. Then he turned and said:

"John, I am, as you know, at the head of my profession in this city. But I am forced to admit that you stand in a far more eminent position."

That afternoon the doctor drove up to the home of the invalid with fruits and flowers and spent an hour enlivening the household.

Never again did he question the action of his friend. And who shall say that the happiness of a man who was denied the world's laurels that he might devote himself to an invalid wife was less than it would have been had he been free to win what the world calls success? When his term of service was ended he realized that he had not only chosen the better but the happier part. What was his reward to come, of course, no man knows. AMAZA J. BARKER.

MR. CLEVELAND ON SITUATION

Considers That His Old Associates In New York Are Up Against Something That Doesn't Look Like Democracy.

(New York World.)

The Democratic political situation in New York, in the opinion of Grover Cleveland, expressed to a representative of The World at his home in Princeton yesterday, puts a dilemna "up to" the conscience of every voter. Mr. Cleveland would give no advice to Democrats as to their duty, emphasizing that he did not wish to appear to meddle in New York politics. It was only after he had expressed his opinions so earnestly that there was no mistaking his attitude that he consented to write this expression of his views:

'I confess I was exceedingly surprised by the outcome of the recent Democratic State convention. Though I was not near enough to be in touch with the incidents leading up to this result, being absent on my vacation, and giving little attention to political occurrences, my estimate of the conservative good judgment of the Democracy of the State, and my conception of Democratic principles and purposes were such that I was profoundly startled by the selection made of a candidate to represent them in the pending canvass,

"Of course every voter of the State must settle with his own conscience in determining his action in this emergency, but I can not but regard the Democratic situation presented to my old associates in New York as an afflictive one."

"It has been suggested in this campaign that supporting the party nominee is not supporting Democracy," the interviewer interposed. "Will you state whether, in your opinion, Mr. Hearst is a Democrat?"

"I certainly never dreamed that he represented the principles of Democracy as I understand them," was the former President's very prompt and unreserved reply.

"If you were still a citizen of New York would you consider it your political duty to vote for Mr. Hughes?" he was asked.

Mr. Cleveland avoided answering this question directly, reiterating that he did not wish to advise. He said an expression of preference by him at this time might do more harm than good. Cabinet members might participate in the State campaign if they chose; it was for them to decide as to the ethics of such an admixture of politics and government, but he was out of politics, and did not wish to be called a meddler. But of Mr. Hughes and the issue of the campaign, Mr. Cleveland said:

"I think the question was stated very concisely by Mr. Hughes in his speech at Lyons yesterday, when he said an attempt is being made to marshal the forces of discontent in an appeal to passion, not reason."

"What would be the greatest danger should Mr. Hearst be elected Govern- would be menaced?"

or? Do you believe the presidency

"Certainly not; the people would have him two years and be through with him. Do I think his election will be a calamity? Why the whole situation is an absurdity; his nomination alone was a calamity to the Democratic party. It placed thousands of good men who believe in Democratic principles, and who rebel against voting for a Republican, in a terrible situation."

"My mother has suddenly been made young at 70. ROCK CLIFF LITHIA SPRINGS WATER.

READ WHAT ONE OF THE MOST NOTED CITIZENS OF SOUTH CAROLINA HAS TO SAY OF THE FAMOUS ROCK CLIFF SPRINGS WATER.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 24.

To Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Co.:

Gentlemen:—This will certify that I was severely afflicted with a serious case of erysipelas, that confined me to my bed for about six months or more, with daily attendance of my physician, and which eventually settled in my left leg and became so severe that a consultation of three physicians was held and the decision reached that the lower part of my leg would have to be amputated to prevent the disease extending to the upper part of my leg and body. I declined the operation and was advised to try Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Water. I engaged board near the spring and was advised to bathe my leg in the water, at the same time drinking freely.

This application soon soothed the pain, and for the first time in months previous I slept for about two hours. After a week's treatment, without any medicine or physician's help, I walked to the spring on crutches. I continued the treatment daily, and within two weeks was able to walk to the spring without crutches and in four weeks was able to walk home, a distance of 1½ miles, and resume my official business.

I was permanently cured by the use of the water, and take great pleasure in giving you this testimonial to the efficiency of the Rock Cliff Springs Water in the treatment of erysipelas.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, October 16.—The cotton market was nervous and unsettled today with fluctuations very irregular. The close was steady with a net decline of 6 to 9 points. Sales were estimated at 350,000 bales. The market was steady at an advance of 5 to 9 points which was not a full response to the higher cables. The weather was better, however, and there was a good deal of realizing here under which the market gradually sagged off with the decline helped by rumors that some of the recent bull leaders had gone short for a turn. After selling off to a net decline of theabout 17 points, the market was rallied by the publication of the weekly review of the weather bureau and sold back to about the closing figures of last night. Breaking again to nearly the low level of the morning under a renewal of scattering liquidation, the market ruled very irregular later in the session but rallied at the close as a result of covering with last prices about 7 to 10 points up from the lowest. The weather reports were considered much more favorable than recently and with the weekly report of the weather bureau merely a reiteration of the daily weather reports, its impression was short lived. Private cables reported a very strong Manchester market but said that American interests were selling and there was some selling in the local market supposed to oe for the account of the South.

Receipts at the ports to-day 88,050 bales, against 84,389 last week, and 65,793 last year. For the week 375,000 bales, against 346,051 last week, and 319,834 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 15,593 bales, against 6,493 last year, and at Houston 40,397 bales, against 30,096 last year.

Don't Hesitate

If you suffer from any kind of female troubles, don't hesitate to take Wine of Cardui. It is a medicine which, for over half a century, has proved of remarkable efficacy in just such diseases.

"For the last nine years", writes Sam'l. L. Davidson, the well known real estate operator of 1655 Eliot St., Denver, Colo., "my wife suffered from female troubles, and if it had not been for she would be suffering yet. I broke up my business East to bring her here, but it did not improve her general health. Our physician could not help her, and all his skill came to naught. She asked him if there was no known cure for female trouble. He said there was a patent medicine, but would not tell her its name. So she asked her druggist, and he recommended Wine of Cardui. After trying it, my wife says that Cardui, with plenty of fresh air, will do more than all the doctors combined, and we recommend it to all female sufferers, where no surgical operation is necessary." Try it for periodical pains.

MRS. JEFF DAVIS HAS PASSED AWAY

Widow of President of Confederacy Died in New York Last Night.

STCCUMBED TO PNEUMONIA

Only Surviving Daughter at Deathbed of Beloved Woman—Mrs. Davis Made Wide Circle of Friends in New York.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, October 16.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis, widow of the President of the Confederacy, who had been ill for a week at the Hotel Majesitc in this city, died at 10:25 o'clock to-night. Death was due to pneumonia induced by a severe cold which Mrs. Davis contracted upon her return from the Adriondacks where she had spent the Summer months. Although grave fears were felt from the first, Mrs. Davis' wonderful vitality which brought her safely through a similar attack a year ago, gave hopes of ultimate recovery until last night when a decided change for the worst was evident and the attending physicians announced that the end was near. It was then believed that Mrs. Davis could not survive the night, but she rallied slightly during the early hours of to-day. Shortly after seven o'clock this morning she had a similar spell, and Rev. Nathan A. Seagle, rector of St. stephens' protestant Episcopal Church was hurriadly summoned to give religious comfort to the patient in her last moments of consciousness. The clergyman remaained some time and an hour later it was announced that Mrs. Davis had collapsed into a state of coma. The period of uncousciousness continued to the end.

At the bedside when death came, were Mrs. J. Addison Hayes, of Newark, N. J., the only surviving daughter of Mrs. Davis; Jefferson Davis Hayes, a grand-son, who was a student at Princeton University; Mrs. Charles E. Bateson, a niece, Dr. and Mrs. Gustave Webb, the latter a grand-daughter, and Dr. Robert N. Wylie, who with Dr. Webb had cared for Mrs. Davis throughout her illness. J. Addison Hayes, husband of Mrs. Davis' only living child, had been summoned from Colorado Springs and was hurrying across the continent when a message announcing Mrs. Davis' death intercepted him. Mrs. Davis has for some years made her home in this city where she had a wide circle of friends. Throughout her illness solicitious inquiries regarding her condition were contitnually made at her apartments.

CATTLE RAISERS' OPPRESSED.

Rates from Texas to New Orleans More Than Doubled.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, October 16.—A hardship, it is claimed, in a complaint filed by the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association with the Inter-state Commerce Commission against the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio Railway Company, the International and Great Northern Railway Company, and the Texas and New Orleans Railway Company, is worked on cattle shippers from Texas points to New Orleans by reason of the cancellation by defendants of through rates.

The cancellation has resulted in an advance of from $15 to $35 a car and it is alleged that shippers of live stock, under the new rates, will suffer serious damage. The Commission is asked to establish just and reasonable through rates from Texas points to New Orleans.

WORK ON PANAMA CANAL.

Secretary Root Surprised at Amount of Digging Already Done.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, October 16.—Secretary Root, who spent two days on the Isthmus of Panama on his return from his trip to South America, has written a letter to the President giving the results of his observations of the work on the canal. The amount of actual excavation done and being done in and near Culebra Cut, Mr. Root says both gratified and surprised him.

"The greatest danger in the way of canal construction now seems to me," he says, "to be lest the really good and able men competent to handle it and who can get profitable employment elsewhere, should be unwilling to continue in the service under indiscriminate misrepresentation and abuse.

Definite plans for the funeral had not been made to-night but it is understood that services will be held here by her pastor, and it is definitely known that the body will repose beside that of the late President of the Confederacy in Richmond.

At the Majestic to-night it was said that the body would be taken to Richmond, Va., on Thursday.

SUBMARINE BOATS ARE DEATH TRAPS

Another French Plunger Gone Down With Crew of Nine Men.

SUDDENLY WENT TO BOTTOM

Lying Helpless 130 Feet at Bottom of Sea—Frightful Record of Disasters to French and British Diving Ships.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

Biserla, Tunis, October 16.—The French sub-marine boat Latin left this port this morning for plunging experiments. Signals received at 10 o'clock to-night reported her disappearance. Two torpedo boats and three tugs ahve gone out in search of the sub-marine. No further news of her has been received.

Went to the Bottom.

Paris, October 16.—M. Thomson, the minister of marine, has received an official despatch from the naval commandant at Diserta confirming the sinking of the sub-marine Lutin. The message says:

"The submarine Lutin, while exercising off the jetties disappeared from the view of the accompanying tug. Search and dragging operations were begun immediately and resistance was felt at a depth of 130 feet near the place where the Lutin sank."

Bad Records for Submarines.

The Lutin is a single screw submarine boat built in 1901. She carries a compliment of nine men. She is 135 feet long and has a displacement of 185 tons.

The reported loss of the Lutin recalls the catrastophe to the French submarine boat Farfadel, July 6th, 1905, at the entrance to the port of Sidi Abdallah, Tunis. Commandant Rotier, of the Farfadel, noticed, at the moment of plunging, that one of the doors was not closed properly and rushed to try to adjust it. He was too late, however, and the boat sank. Fourteen men perished.

On March 18, 1904, the British submarine A1 was run down by a steamer while submerged near Portsmouth. All her crew was lost.

On February 5, 1905, the British submarine A5 sank off Queenstown, only one of her crew being saved.

A third British submarine sank off Plymouth, June 8, 1905, after an explosion on board. Fourteen of her crew were killed.

THEO. ROOSEVELT, JR., WAS IN IT

Case Against His Room-mate Smothered Over in Boston.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Boston, Mass., October 16.—The case against Shaun Kelley, the Harvard student charged with assaulting a patrolman, which has been before the authorities in different phases for the past two weeks, was dismissed in the municipal court to-day. The case grew out of attempt of the officers to arrest a party of Harvard men who were skylarking on Boston common, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Shaun Kelley, his room-mate, being in the party. One of the patrolmen was injured in the encounter with the students.

In dismissing the case Judge Wentworth commented at some length upon it, saying that the efforts of the police to put a stop to the disturbance were commendable, but that with reason, Kelley was under the belief that his arrest was illegal and under circumstances the resistance which he offered was not of undue violence.

UNIQUE AND DARING ROBBERY.

Bogus Military Officer Used Soldiers to Loot Town Treasury.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

Berlin, October 16.—A unique and daring robbery was committed at Coepenick, a small town seven miles east of Berlin, to-day. The robber, in the uniform of a captain of the guards, met a detachment of twelve men on a street in Berlin who were returning from target practice. He produced a forged cabinet order authorizing him to take command. The men recognized his authority and he then ordered them to march to Coepenick. Upon arrival there they proceeded to the town hall, arrested the burgomaster and the treasurer and took possesion of the cash, $1,000. The robber detached several of his men to conduct the prisoners to headquarters in Berlin and ordered the remainder to hold possession of the town hall for half an hour. He then rode off alone in the direction of Berlin with the money. The burgomaster and treasurer were greatly mystified at the meaning of their arrest. Upon their arrival in custody at headquarters in Berlin they learned that the ostensible captain was a fraud and were immediately discharged. The bogus captain has not been heard from and the authorities are without any clue whatever as to his identity.

SUDDEN FRIGHT FOR HARRY THAW

District Attorney Jerome Intimated Others May Be Indicted With Him.

MRS. THAW NOT INVOLVED

Murderer of Stanford White Had His Mind Set at Rest By His Lawyer. Jerome Accused of Chicanery.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, October 16.—There was a revival of interest to-day in the case of Harry K. Thaw, charged with the murder of Sanford White, when in court District Attorney Jerome intimated that there might be other indictments in the case.

The statement by the district attorney was made in the course of an argument befort Recorder Goff against the writ of prohibition restricting the district attorney's office from further perliminary action in grand jury proceedings in the murder case.

Following the hearing, Clifford W. Hartridge, Thaw's counsel, called upon the prisoner at the Tombs. After his visit the lawyer explained that Thaw had read the evening papers and feared from what he had read of the proceedings before Recorder Goff that an attempt might me made to indict his wife, or other members of the family. Mr. Hartridge said that he had merely called to set Thaw's mind at rest as there was no danger that other members of his family or any one connected with the family would be indicted. The recorder at the request of Mr. Jerome, adjourned the proceedings that the district attorney might obtain a formal order having the argument transferred to Justice McLean's court where it was first heard.

During the argument to-day Mr. Jerome said he had been embarrassed by the temporary writ of prohibition issued by Justice McLean.

"I hope you have," broke in Mr. Gleason, of Thaw's counsel, "and I hope I may continue to embarrass the district attorney from taking any secret evidence that may send my client to the electric chair. Forty-three depositions have been taken in this case against the constitutional rights of this defendant Thaw."

Mr. Jerome leaped to his feet and said:

"Not a deposition taken by the District Attorney in this case could be used against Thaw in the trial, and counsel well knows."

"That is true," said Mr. Gleason, "but these depositions are taken to entangle the conscience of the witness and to frighten him when he appears at the trial."

"None of the forty-three witnesses, said Mr. Jerome, "examined by the district attorney are to be called by the prosecution at the trial of Harry K. Thaw, but their evidence has been taken in anticipation that the defense would call them and to prevent their conscience being entangled by the defense."

Cartersville, Ga., October 16.—The special train bearing the body of Rev. Sam P. Jones, the evalgelist, who died on a train near Little Rock yesterday arrived here to-day and was met by the city council in a body and about 3,000 persons. All business was suspended and public schools and the city office closed while the body was being born to the Jones residence.

COAST STORM SEVERE AT SEA

Heavy Fog Hangs Over Virginia Shore and Is Delaying Shipping.

BARGE ADRIFT WITH SIX MEN

Was Lost By Steamer During Storm Monday Afternoon and is Probably Lost—Secretary Taft's Arrival is Delayed.

By Wire to the Morning Star.

Newport News, Va., October 16.—Somewhere along the Virginia coast the whaleback barge Berkshire, with Captain Alson Trudo and five seamen aboard, is adrift in the storm, unless she has been driven from Lynn, Mass., and Captain Peters reported that he lost the Berkshire thirty miles north of Cape Charles light yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Because of the high winds and heavy sea the steamer was unable to put about and pick up the barge. To-morrow morning the Bay State will put to sea to look for the ship. Both vessels are owned by the Bouteville Steel Barge Company, of Boston.

Newport News, Va., October 16.—The battleship Louisiana with Secretary Taft and party on board accompanied by the battleships Virginia and New Jersey, en route home from Cuba, are not expected to Hampton Roads until to-morrow morning on account of a thick fog which hangs over this section of the Atlantic coast. A storm prevailed on the coast during the day and because of the fog, the vessels are required to proceed slowly. The dispatch boat Dolphin lay an anchor in Hampton Roads all day in the storm, awaiting the arrival of the Taft party, who are to proceed to Washington on the Dolphin.

WOMAN KILLED HUSBAND.

He Was Chasing Her With Big Butcher Knife.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Chicago, October 16.—In the presence of her daughter and a party of children, Mrs. Sarah Alcopa shot and killed her husband, John L. Alcopa, early to-day at their home.

The shots were fired to save her own life. Alcopa was chasing her around the house with a butcher knife and she ran into her bedroom, took a revolver from the dresser and fired two shots, one striking the man in the left temple and the other in the lung. He died instantly.

Alcopa was a cigar maker 39 years old. His wife is 39 and there are two children.

Jealousy of John Minerino, a roomer at the house, is said to have caused the shooting. Mrs. Alcopa was arrested.

MURDERER SHOT HIMSELF.

Desperate Negro Got Ball Intended for Captors.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Roanoke, Va., October 16.—After eluding his pursuers five days, John Hardy, the negro who killed Policeman R. M. Beard, during a raid on a negro dive last Thursday night was captured to-day ten miles from Roanoke. Hardy went to the home of Preston Stillings, a farmer, and asked to be allowed to rest, saying he was ill. He was recognized by Stillings who gave him a bed. Later three farmers entered the room and seized Hardy. The negro in an attempt to use a revolver which he had under the bed covers discharged the weapon but the ball passed through his own head, inflicting a dangerous wound. It is said Hardy has killed three men. He is in Roanoke jail.
